Annex D: Profile who has benefitted from the SGUnited Jobs and Skills Package and Workforce Singapore's programmes

WEDA StudioInc Pte Ltd was looking for a HR and Admin Manager to support their operations, when they found Intan Adam's profile on MyCareersFuture through the portal's "Suggested Talent" feature. 47-year-old Intan Adam had taken a year off to travel after working in the manufacturing industry for over 20 years. However, she had difficulty finding a job when she tried to re-enter the workforce in Oct 2018. After more than six months of fruitless search, she reached out to WSG in August 2019 and was referred to one of WSG's Career Matching Providers, Ingeus, whose career coach guided her in her job search, including improving her resume and online profile.

When WEDA found her profile and resume on MyCareersFuture in Apr 2020, they were taken by her years of experience and her abilities in leadership, interpersonal relationship building and critical thinking, and reached out to her though she lacked industry knowledge in built environment. Though Intan did not apply for the job, she stayed open and leaped at the opportunity, even if it meant switching sectors.

Today, Intan closely supports WEDA's operations, including the setting up of a new division, Greyline Solutions. WEDA also tapped on the P-Max programme to help her transit and assimilate into the SME working environment. Intan has also helped the company come onboard the SGUnited Traineeships Programme. For example, WEDA was able to enrol three fresh graduates as SGUnited trainees:

- a) Koh Jie Lyn, a graduate with a degree in Digital Animation, was attracted to the opportunity to make creative decisions and actively participate in building the brand identity for the company's new division, Greyline Solutions.
- b) Mao Yue, who has a degree in Architectural Studies, found her interests aligned with the container dormitory project which Greyline Solution was doing.
- c) Pung Li Kuang, who also has a degree in Architectural Studies, was drawn to the purpose of WEDA's Greyline Solutions to address issues of dormitory living. This was aligned with his own aspiration to design on the basis of good cause.
