

iii. How is my organisation managing diversity?

To find out how your organisation is currently managing diversity in the workplace, take the Diversity Management Assessment. The assessment does NOT measure the effectiveness of diversity management in your workplace. Rather, it serves as a means to review your organisation's existing practices and to highlight gaps and opportunities for improvement.

iii. How is my organisation managing diversity?

Who should complete the Diversity Management Assessment?

Business owners, Human Resources Managers and/or Managers in charge of your organisation's diversity management.

What does the Diversity Management Assessment measure?

The Diversity Management Assessment areas assesses whether your organisation has put in place diversity management practices in the following areas:

- Strategic importance of diversity management in an organisation, and the extent of leadership commitment and support
- Practices/policies in staff recruitment, development and performance management
- Practices/policies to create an inclusive and harmonious workplace
- Tracking and monitoring of effectiveness

You can take the Diversity Management Assessment online at <http://www.fairemployment.sg/DMA/>, or offline using the hardcopy provided at Appendix I

After taking the self assessment, use the results to help you identify gaps and areas of improvement in diversity management within in your organisation.

Select the relevant areas in Section 4 for possible practices which you can put in place to address the areas of improvement identified.

Appendix I - Diversity Management Assessment

The Diversity Management Assessment assesses whether your organisation has put in place diversity management practises in the following areas:

- ➔ Strategic importance of workplace inclusiveness and harmony in an organisation, and the extent of leadership commitment and support
- ➔ Practices/policies in staff recruitment, development and performance management
- ➔ Practices/policies to create an inclusive and harmonious workplace culture and environment
- ➔ Tracking and monitoring of effectiveness

The assessment does NOT measure the effectiveness of diversity management in your workplace. Rather, it serves as a means to review the existing practices your organisation has put in place, to highlight gaps and opportunities for improvement.

Who should complete the Assessment?

Business owners, Human Resources Managers and/or Managers in charge of organisation's diversity and inclusiveness management.

How should I complete the Assessment?

If you have access to the internet, complete the Assessment online at <http://www.fairemployment.sg/DMA/>. The results will be auto-generated and a series of recommendations will be provided based on your answers. Rest assured that the results will be confidential and accessible only to you. Results of individual companies will not be retained or recorded.

If you do not have access to the internet or prefer to complete the Assessment offline, you can use the hard copy provided in this Appendix on the next page.

There are two sections in the assessment. For each section, check all statements which apply to your organisation, and tabulate the scores at the end of each section.

The first section measures the extent to which your organisation has put in place foundational practices. These are essential workplace practices that organisations should adopt to promote an inclusive and harmonious workplace.

Organisations which have scored well in the first section can then proceed to the second section, which is a more comprehensive assessment of the extent to which your organisation has put in place practices to manage diversity.

What should I do after I complete the Assessment?

The results will help you identify gaps and areas of improvement in diversity management within your organisation. Use the results to prioritise the areas which you would like to focus on. Read Section 4 of the Toolkit, "How do I build an Inclusive and Harmonious Workplace?" for some ideas on practices and policies that your organisation can implement.

What do my scores mean?

Leadership and Commitment
If you scored between 4 to 6	Your organisation places a strong strategic importance on workplace inclusiveness and harmony, and your senior management demonstrates commitment and support. This is the most important foundation to cultivate an inclusive and harmonious workforce.
If you scored between 0 to 3	Your organisation can explore how to strengthen the business case for workplace inclusiveness and harmony in the organisation, as well as how senior management can demonstrate their support and commitment. This is important to set a strong foundation for cultivating an inclusive and harmonious workforce. Do read Pages 12 to 14 of the toolkit for some suggestions on how to do this.
Staff training and development
If you scored 2/2	Your organisation's training and development practices are supportive of an inclusive and harmonious workforce.
If you scored between 0 and 1	Your organisation can explore how to strengthen practices in staff training and development to promote a more inclusive and harmonious workforce. Do read Pages 21 to 23 of the toolkit for some suggestions on how to do this.
Workplace culture
If you scored between 7 to 9	Your organisation has taken a comprehensive approach to promoting an inclusive and harmonious workplace culture and environment.
If you scored between 0 to 6	While your organisation has made some strides at putting in place practices to promote an inclusive and harmonious workplace culture and environment, more can be done. You can read Pages 26 to 39 of the Toolkit for more ideas on practices which you can put in place to promote an inclusive and harmonious workplace culture and environment.
Measurement
If you scored between 3 to 5	Your organisation takes a comprehensive approach to monitoring and evaluating initiatives to promote an inclusive and harmonious workplace culture and environment.
If you scored between 0 to 2	If your organisation is committed to creating an inclusive and harmonious workforce, there needs to be stronger monitoring of the state of workplace diversity management to assess success and implement improvements. You can read Pages 42 to 43 of the Toolkit for more ideas on measures which you can put in place.
